BOOK CIRCLE: MISSIONS (PART 1)

Below are synopses of various books written by Christian authors on Mission. These books are available in the Book Circle under the category of Mission

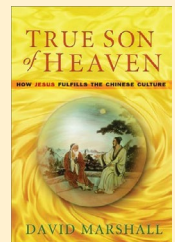

On Mission With God by Avery T Willis & Henry Blackaby

A good book for those who are wondering if God is calling them to something more than being a church attender or ministry leader but to be a pastor or missionary. Builds on the principles to explain how Christians must join God on mission to further their experience, introducing the four perspectives of God's purpose through His people; Abraham, Moses David, Peter, Paul & John and Jesus; and showing how they followed God.

True Sons of Heaven by David Marshall

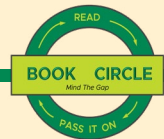

David Marshall commands an excellent grasp of Chinese culture, world history, the great philosophies and religions of the world, and most importantly the Gospel. He seamlessly weaves all of those elements together in a bold and moving narrative that is sure to both challenge and educate the traditional Western Christian as well as provoke reactions of the uniformed or the dogmatic. No one who loves China and who is open to loving Jesus will want to miss this book.

Marshall, who has written on China for publications like Christianity Today, First Things and Books and Culture, shows deep sensitivity both to the insights of the historical Christian tradition, and to Chinese religion, art, landscape, custom, and language.

The Touch of the Master by Deborah Meroff

Just how much does the Creator of the Universe concern Himself with the daily lives of the people He has created? Would He step in to rescue someone from unjust imprisonment? Deliver an innocent child from a life of prostitution? What about those times when He seems to allow bad things to happen to good people? These are real-life accounts of men and women who took the Good News of Christ to the ends of the earth with a mission called Operation Mobilization and how each of them experienced God's unique touch in crisis situations. The stories will fill you with a sense of awe and delight but most of all with the assurance that God can be trusted - anywhere, anytime, with anything.

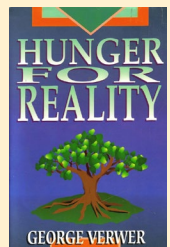

Following Jesus by Don Fleming

The book builds around Jesus travels around first century Palestine. It covers from the beginnings in Bethlehem, south to Egypt and north to Nazareth, the Jordon River, early works in Judea and Galilee, in Jerusalem, hospitality in Bethany and Golgotha. It includes colour photos, maps and footnotes. Readers will have a fresh view of Jesus as they follow Him around the first century Palestine. They will see that His words are still active – for He is still calling people to follow Him.

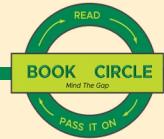

Hunger for Reality by George Verwer

The book questions whether Christians are spiritually starved. It highlights that through the care and faithfulness of God's servants, Christians are generously fed, taught, encouraged, pampered, stimulated, supported and nursed along. It questions whether all this has any effect on our lives. Can this contradiction be ended, this double living cured? Can Christ really revolutionized our lives so that they are consistent and productive? The answer is Yes! The result for each of us is not a life of perfection, but it is a life of reality. It does not mean a life of ease, but it is a life of joy. Our Lives can be transformed. Verwer addresses the spiritual schizophrenia many of us live with and corrects the splitting of our lives into the spiritual and the secular. He also emphasizes radical love, spiritual balance, the missionary call, acceptance and our role in the unfinished task.

Ponderings En Route by Peter Chao

The founder of Eagles Communications, Peter is a persuasive and captivating public speaker, and is equally personable, incisive and nurturing in his role as mentor and coach to leaders of corporations. “What is in my heart would be the compass that direct my behaviour, lifestyle and specific choices that I will make. The heart of the matter is, indeed, the matter of the heart. Ultimately, God holds us accountable for truth in our hearts

Look out for Part 2 in next week Bulletin for more synopsis of books on Mission

If you are interested to read any of these books, it is available (on a first come-first serve) from the Book Circle located at L1 Glass-enclosed Lift Lobby, on a 24/7 basis. Alternatively, you can contact the church office or Bee Hong (HP 91711009) or Pek Hong (HP 98188220) to enquire availability for any other books, which you may be are interested in.
